Purpose of the Academy

- To expose chiropractors to best practice.
- To promote and stimulate research and researchers
- To facilitate the delivery of safe, evidence-informed, optimum standards of care
- To stimulate enquiry among chiropractors and encourage lifelong learning
- To facilitate the delivery of postgraduate education (GEP, CPD)

Special Interest Group (SIG) is a community with an interest in advancing a specific area of knowledge, understanding, skills and competency, where members cooperate to effect or to produce solutions within their particular field, and may communicate, meet, and organise conferences to facilitate post-graduate training.

As part of the Academy you are supporting our profession's high educational standards and agree with professional postgraduate education and ongoing research.

EAC CPD seminars are low cost – high impact events, of clinical interest and of a hands-on nature, to be used for CE and GEP purposes.

CE seminars are running regionally, on a regular basis, at various European locations to attract DC's from neighboring countries, in order to provide ECU members continuing education opportunities, besides the annual convention.

GEP seminars will be organized by the academy only at request from the national associations, in order to assist them in providing parts of the GEP to their members.

CPD refers to the continuing development of the multi-faceted competencies drawn from various domains of knowledge, understanding, skills, attitudes, and performance and health outcomes in daily practice while supporting accountability and transparency within the self-governing chiropractor.

Multi-faceted competencies include competencies in the following domains identified by the European Academy of Chiropractic: expert performance, communication, collaboration, management, community performance, scholarship and professionalism.

WHY WORKING FOR THE EUROPEAN ACADEMY OF CHIROPRACTIC?

Because patients are best served by safe, competent chiropractors. All chiropractors should have access to high quality sources of knowledge and skills. The profession will evolve and develop through its encouragement of postgraduate and higher educational learning. A collaboration of European national chiropractic associations, educational institutions and postgraduate educational providers will raise quality standards across the profession and enhance chiropractic's contribution to a healthier society.

Martin Wangler Dean of the Academy
